1 Introduction

SELFSCRUM is a new approach to self-manage learning in school and elsewhere. This concept is based on lernos, a self-learning guide, and is adapted for use in schools that allow their students to define their own learning pace.

2 Core Values and Principles

We believe that every human being is destined to learning the whole life.

3 Lernos

An early inspiration and foundational methods collection for SELFSCRUM.

3.1 Lernos Introduction

The intention of Lernos is…

4 Tools

Important software and other tools that we use.

4.1 miro

What are we doing with a commercial software package, you might wonder. This is a vails question. miro.com is a vendor of commercial software services. Unfortunaltey, as of current, there is no Open Source product that has similar capabilities.

We might replace miro in a later stage, but until then, we see miro as the primary interface to all learning management activities.

5 Development Roadmap

How SELFSCRUM is planned to evolve, is not yet fully determined.
